

Far Greater Joy

Jeanne Newman Burgon

Mark Newman

Joyfully (♩=84)

1. Of all the songs that have been sung, Of all the praise of pen or tongue,
2. Of all the gifts that have been laid At thrones of kings, and hom - age paid,
3. Of all the joy of moth - er's heart In new - born child, her - self a part,

No song more joy and glo - ry - filled Than an - gels' song o'er shep - herds' hill.
No gifts with mean - ing more rep - lete Than wise men's gifts at Christ - child's feet.
The vir - gin's heart most full, most awed, As she em - braced the Son of God.

But great - er far the song of love-- Sal - va - tion's hymn in world a - bove:
But great - er far the gift of Son-- Em - man - u - el, A - noint - ed One--
Far great - er joy is pro - mise sure To be made just and whole and pure:

A Fath - er's plan made child - ren free; A Son's re - frain, "'Tis I; send me."
E - ter - nal sac - ri - fice or - dained To con - quer death and sin and pain.
The end - less joy A - tone - ment gives— This joy is ours be - cause He lives.
